2Q25F profit to improve YoY

- We estimate CK to report a net profit of Bt658m for 2Q25, up 35% YoY and 133% QoQ. The YoY improved earnings will be driven by rising construction revenue (estimated at 10.8% YoY) based on the company's strong backlog. The QoQ improvement will come from stronger associated profits, and dividend income offsetting lower construction revenue and higher financial expenses. For 1H25, we estimate construction revenue to rise by 18.4% YoY to Bt22.1bn, versus the full-year target of Bt40bn. 1H25 net profit is estimated to rise by 54% YoY to Bt940m.
- The company's backlog is estimated at about Bt190bn, including the MRT Orange Line project worth Bt108bn. The projects contributing to revenue will include the construction of the Luang Prabang hydroelectric dam, the Purple Line, the Den Chai-Chiang Rai-Chiang Khong railway project, and the initial phase of the MRT Orange Line project.
- Gross profit margin is estimated to remain solid at 7.8% in 2Q25F, up from 7.7% in 1Q25 and 7.2% in 2Q24.
- SG&A expenses are under control, up 2% YoY and flat QoQ at Bt556m, making up 5.4% of revenues.
- Other income may decline 3% YoY but rise 178% QoQ to Bt392m, thanks to dividend income.
- The equity profit from associates should also come in strong at Bt600m in this quarter, compared with Bt267m in the previous quarter, thanks largely to unrealized forex gains from the baht's appreciation versus the US dollar.
- As of end-March 2025, CK's net D/E ratio was 1.75x. The company has completed its share buyback program. As of 1 June 2025, CK had bought 13.54m treasury shares (0.8% of total capital) on the SET worth Bt224m under the treasury share program. The full program was to acquire 130m shares for a budget of Bt3bn.
- Maintain BUY. We prefer to maintain our earnings estimates and BUY call with a price target of Bt19.1, based on a 1.2x book value at the end of 2025. The stock trades at P/E of 15x for 2025F. The operating risk depends on whether the government implements new infrastructure investments as planned. Downside risk would come from rising labour and raw material costs, which may partially be offset by the escalation factor reducing cost-inflation risks. There's also a risk of a rise in tax payments by its subsidiary with its Laos operation, which may be subject to the Global Minimum Tax (which now has an effective corporate tax rate below 15%).

CK

E: Environmental

CK manages environmental aspects in accordance with Environmental Management Policy, Green Construction, Climate Resilience, and Sustainable Biodiversity Management, covering all production activities from planning to waste management and post-use product management. CK also promotes and imparts knowledge on resource efficiency and effective waste management to employees, contractors, customers, business partners, and stakeholders. To ensure safety, occupational health, and environmental responsibility, CK has established a Safety, Occupational Health, and Environment in Workplace Committee. This committee maintains and updates the environmental regulation and law database relevant to CK business operations and projects to ensure modern and consistent operations. Internal audits are conducted periodically to ensure compliance with laws. Furthermore, regular meetings are held to report on operational results, address challenges, and propose improvements in the committee's duties on an annual basis. In addition, CK has been certified with the International Organization for Standardization's 9001 Standard for Quality Management System. This certification confirms CK's commitment to efficient management and quality work, demonstrating its dedication to operating effectively and maintaining quality at every stage of its business processes.

S: Social

CK emphasizes the importance of community and societal involvement in sustainable development. Given that the Company's business operations may have significant impacts on both the social and environmental aspects of the surrounding communities, apart from implementing measures to mitigate these impacts, it is essential for the company to foster understanding, address concerns, and maintain positive relationships with the community. Additionally, collaborative efforts are crucial to creating shared values that instill confidence in the company's responsible operations. Without nurturing a good relationship with the community and minimizing the negative impacts, there may be long-term consequences for CK's ability to collaborate effectively with the community in the future (License to Operate).

G: Governance

CK believes that good corporate governance is the foundation for its long-term success and the satisfaction of stakeholders. Good governance results in CK operating for the maximum benefit of stakeholders, which in turn helps to build trust, attract investment, improve employee morale, increase customer satisfaction, and enhance the company's public image.

Comment

CK has been awarded a SET ESG rating of A, indicating a strong commitment to environmental, social, and governance (ESG) practices and clear long-term objectives in this regard. Furthermore, the company demonstrates the ability to execute short-term goals effectively.
